CRIPPEN WILL NOT FIGHT EXTRADITION

Great Celerity By the Authorities of the Dominion in Dealing With Doctor's Case.

MAN AND WOMAN ON VERGE OF COLLPASE

Details of One of the Most Thrilling Man Chases in History re Given to the Public.

Quebec, Aug. 1.—Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen announced in the provincial court today he would not resist his return to England to stand trial for the murder of a woman believed by the police to be his missing wife, Belle Elmore, the American actress.

Crippen's companion in flight, Miss Ethel Clare Leneve, was to have been arraigned today, but her custodians reported to the court that she was too ill to appear.

The authorities are confident that the woman will give no more trouble than Crippen promises to, and that as soon as the fifteen days of grace provided by the extradition laws of Canada have expired both prisoners can be returned to London without any hitch.

Will Avoid All Difficulties.

When Crippen and Miss Leneve were arrested on board the incoming steamed Montrose yesterday they were charged with identical crimes, the murder and mutilation of an unknown woman. It had been expected that both would be arraigned at 10:30 o'clock this morning and deported upon the steamer Royal George that will sail for England Thursday. However, Inspector Dew received instructions which changed the program. The English officials do not wish anything done that would give the appearance of railroading the prisoners. They wish the formalities of extradition followed to the letter.

When this became known here the arraignment of the accused was delayed until a new plan of procedure could be mapped out. It was finally determined to bring the prisoners before the court as fugitives of justice and to set a later day at which they might make any proper protests against their extradition. In the meantime it is expected they will be permitted to have counsel.

Miss Leneve Taken to a Hospital.

Miss Leneve was transferred this afternoon from the provincial jail to a hospital. The girl scarcely has been able to stand since her collapse of yesterday, when she was taken into custody. Her condition has excited much sympathy and the jail keepers today suggested to the court that she be sent to a hospital where she could receive medical attention, of which she is plainly in need.

The court granted the request and went further in making known its intention to send an official to the hospital to take her answers to the same formal questions that were asked of Crippen in open court. This will spare the woman the shock of appearing in open court, and under the circumstances it is deemed advisable not to aggravate the strain under which she is already suffering.

Her Family Urge Her to Tell All.

The girl's family in London appear to be doing all in their power to aid her and at the same time to promote the cause of justice. During the day she received three cablegrams from her relatives. One of these messages urged her to tell everything and another besought her to remember her own family no matter how great might be her love for Crippen.

It was a broken man that stood today before Judge Angers in the provincial court of special sessions.

Crippen Could Scarcely Stand.

Crippen was so weak he could scarcely reach the bench to answer the formal questions put to him. The proceedings were brief and at their conclusion the prisoner was remanded for fifteen days. At the expiration of that time he will be sent back to England unless he decides to fight extradition. However, Crippen declared he would not interpose objection to his extradition.

Following the receipt of instructions from Scotland Yard today Inspector Dew visited the court house and conferred for some moments with the judge. Then he held a whispered conversation with the Canadian detectives, after which the latter hurried away to the jail.

Presently these detectives with Crippen drove up to the court house in a carriage and literally fought their way through the crowd to the judge's chambers. Crippen was brought at once to the bar. He was heavily canacled, the steel bracelets weighing down his thin wrist. It was apparent that he had passed a bad night.

Will Not Fight Extradition.

The judge asked the prisoner if he was Hawley H. Crippen.

"I am," said Crippen.

"Do you know this man?" indicating Inspector Dew.

Crippen nodded his head.

"Are you ready to go back with him or any other qualified officer?"

"Yes."

"Do you intend to fight extradition?"

"No."

As he answered the questions Crippen scarcely raised his head.

To further interrogatives he said he was a citizen of the United States, born in Michigan.

When the judge asked, "Is the girl arrested with you Miss Ethel Clare Leneve?" the doctor replied, "Yes."

His response was in the most colorless tone.

Proceedings Explained.

The proceedings against Crippen and Miss Leneve were under the fugitive offenders law that obtains between British possessions. Judge Langelier explained today that under this statute as soon as the attorney general of the province of Quebec was notified by cable that a warrant had been issued in London he instructed Judge Angers to issue a provisional warrant for the arrest of the suspects on the Montrose. The examination today was conducted by Judge Langelier, who sits on the bench with Judge Angers.

The steamer Montrose, on which the fugitives were [illegible] while the vessel was still 130 mi... from this port, arrived at her pier a 1:35 o'clock this morning.

The prisoners were hastened through an enormous crowd of curious ones to the provincial jail, where they were placed in separate cells for the night.

Get Sleep; Appear Refreshed.

Here they got a few hours sleep, the best rest which either had had since they fled from London on July 9 shortly before detectives found in the cellar of the Crippen home the bits of human flesh which the authorities tried to estublish once went to make up the body of Belle Elmore, Crippen's lawful wife.

Today both prisoners appeared refreshed, for theirs was the common experience of hunted ones. The agony of suspense over, they had fallen into that deep sleep that betokens physical exhaustion.

As soon as the arrests were made the local court authorities were notified and Judge Panet Angers arranged to hold court at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

The accused were held under the law pertaining to fugitives who are suspected of connection with a crime and the court proceedings were arranged to be conducted expeditiously.

Will Be Sent Back at Once.

It is hoped that Crippen and his typist can be sent back to London on the steamer Royal George, which will sail on Thursday. However, under the fugitive offending act the prisoners have a right to remain here fifteen days before their departure. This period affords them opportunity to seek release through habeas corpus proceedings. Crippen also may exercise his right as an American citizen to appeal to the American consul here and so make sure that his rights are not infringed.

It is doubtful if Crippen avails himself of either chance for delay.

The greatest excitement was caused in the city yesterday when a wireless message brought the news that the long sought man and woman had been arrested on board the steamer Montrose when the vessel laid to off Father Point to take on a pilot.

Vast Crowd Gathers.

It was known that the steamer, with the prisoners and their captors aboard, would be due here soon after midnight and early in the evening crowds began to gather at the pier. As the night advanced the crowd grew greater, until the police found that they had a big job on their hands to restrain the curious ones and so permit the landing of Inspector Dew and his prisoners.

When the steamer was sighted down the harbor the excitement was intense and the police, who up to that time had used moral suasion, assumed a more determined attitude, finally pushing back the throng from the gangway in no more gentle manner than the circumstances necessitated.

When the boat swung into her pier Crippen was still in cabin No. 88, where he was confined yesterday. With him was Detective Denis. Miss Leneve was under close watch of Chief McCarthy in cabin No. 5. Throughout the night Inspector Dew had passed from one cabin to the other, not for one moment relaxing the watch upon the prisoners who had slipped through his fingers once before.

Prisoners Very Restless.

A half hour before the landing the prisoners were told that they were nearing Quebec. Both, who had been under the greatest strain for hours, showed increased restlessness.

Crippen, who had been attempting to read a novel, tossed the book aside and dropped his head in his hands in the same despairing attitude that he assumed yesterday forenoon when he heard the fateful words, "In the name of the king, I arrest you."

At the same time Miss Leneve, in her quarters in another part of the vessel, fell on her knees and gazed out of the port hole into the blackness of the night.

She was seized with a nervous cough that racked her frame and the physician who had ministered to her physical needs from the time she collapsed following her arrest, was in constant attendance.

Both Seem Near Collapse.

At 1:30 o'clock Captain Kendall came down from the bridge and notified Inspector Dew that in a few min-

WOMAN 87 YEARS OLD SERIOUSLY BURNED.

Mrs. Dora Kolkmann Victim of Most Distressing Accident.

Mrs. Dora Kolkmann, 87 years of age, is in a very critical condition as the result of an accident at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Horstman, 2001 John street, this morning, when the aged woman's clothing caught fire from a gas range and she was frightfully burned about the face, arms and the upper portion of one of her legs.

Mrs. Kolkmann was seated at the table eating her breakfast, and other members of the family were in an adjoining room. A teakettle was boiling upon the gas range, and it is presumed the aged woman attempted to remove it when the sleeve of her dress caught fire. Mrs. Horstman, who heard her mother scream, rushed into the room, and managed to extinguish the flames by smothering them and by tearing the clothing from the aged woman.

Dr. J. B. McEvoy, who was called in the case, says that owing to the advanced age of the patient, the outcome is problematical. Mrs. Kolkmann has not yet been able to give any explanation of how the accident occurred.

Mrs. William Hilker, another daughter of Mrs. Kolkmann, was at the Horstman home when the accident occurred, but her attitution, as well as that of other members of the family, was directed to another part of the house from the fact that Linda Horstman, 9 years old, a grand-daughter of the aged woman, had broken her left leg upon a swing at Robison park Sunday.

HARMON DOES NOT SUCCEED.

Ohio Governor's Efforts to Settle Car Strike Fail.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 1.—Gov. Harmon up to noon had failed to settle the street car strike here. The company offered to take the union men back as individuals if they will discard their union button. This the strikers refuse to do. They demand recognition of their union.

Two Leonard avenue cars were attacked by mobs today and had to be abandoned.

The police stopped an attempt to burn the cars.

The street car company has called upon General Dick, the commanding officer, to place sufficient detachments of troops at certain points early in the morning where large bodies of men pass enroute to their places of work.

Troops are again patrolling the streets and few people are riding in the cars.

KILLED BY A CAR.

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 1.—John F. Donahue, of this city, was fatally injured while inspecting rear trucks of a Vandalia car in the yards this morning. The car was moved, passing over him and he lay under the wheels twenty minutes while the car was jacked up. He died soon after reaching the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Bechtold, of 1522 Maumee avenue, have gone to Bluffton, where they will meet a number of members of the Indiana Association for the Progressive Education of the Blind. Plans will be under discussion for the establishing of an industrial home for blind women, an institution that is said to be greatly needed in the state.

WENDLING REMAINS CHEERFUL AND READY

Alleged Slayer of the Kellner Child to be Returned Soon.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 1.—Capt. John P. Carney wired today from San Francisco that he would leave tomorrow morning at 10:45 with Joseph Wendling, wanted in Louisville on the charge of murdering Alma Kellner.

The arrangements for the return of Weendling have been perfected by Chief of Police Lindsey and his advisers. Colonel Lindsey does not fear a demonstration when Wendling arrives, but has no desire to incur the risk that might attend an outpouring of people anxious to see the much-hunted man. "I feel certain," said Colonel Lindsey today, "that Captain Carney will soon lose himself with his prisoner and the public will not hear from him again until Wendling is in jail in Louisville."

WENDLING STILL CHEERFUL.

San Francisco, Aug. 1.—Joseph Wendling, accused of the murder of little Alma Kellner, will probably not start on his journey for Louisville, Ky., before Wednesday, according to the statement made today by Captain of Detectives J. P. Carney, of that city, in whose charge he will travel. Wendling continues to maintain his innocence and has not lost the cheerful air which he has maintained ever since his arrest.

ROOSEVELT MAKING MYSTERY OF HIS PURPOSES

Is Going Away But Does Not Want Anything Said About Plans.

New York, Aug. 1.—Colonel Roosevelt dropped unexpectedly into town from Oyster Bay today to put in a few quiet hours at his office.

The colonel usually comes on Tuesday. He said he expected no important visitors and would leave for home early in the afternoon.

A great deal of mystery was made at Colonel Roosevelt's office as to the exact cause of his visit.

Early in the afternoon a report was sprung that he was to leave New York today for a four days' tour in Pennsylvania, the purpose of which was not disclosed.

Colonel Roosevelt made every effort to keep secret his plans for the next few days and refused to say a word as to what he would do. He would not say whether he was to return tonight to Oyster Bay.

The colonel appeared to be angered by the fact that an inkling of his plans had become known.

YARDMASTER DEAHL AT WORK.

Samuel S. Deahl, the Nickel Plate yardmaster who was severely injured last February, resumed work this morning. He is still quite lame, but is rapidly recovering.

SLAYS THREE AND IS DYING HIMSELF

Discharged City Fireman at San Diego Pours Volley Into Comrades He Called With False Alarm.

GOES HOME AND BRAINS WIFE AND BABE

Another Victim is Dying and a Fifth Is Badly Hurt—Awful Deed of Vengeance-Crazed Man.

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 1.—Shooting himself through the head after killing three persons, including his wife and child, mortally wounding a fourth and seriously wounding a fifth, Bert S. Durham, a discharged employe of the local fire department today ended the hunt for him.

He recovered consciousness after shooting himself, but the coroner says he will die.

Murderer Escapes; Suicide Expected.

Durham escaped. It was believed he would end his own life at the first opportunity.

Several months ago Durham was discharged from the fire department for insubordination. He was said to be quarrelsome. Durham was a wagon driver. His dismissal is said to have preyed on his mind until he concocted a plan for obtaining revenge.

After midnight he turned in a false alarm of fire in a dark and distant quarter of the city and lay in ambush awaiting the response of the fire company. Upon their arrival he opened fire with a revolver.

Driver Shot Dead.

At the first shot Driver Don Grant fell to the ground dead with a bullet through his head. At the second shot Hoseman Guy Elliott fell with a bullet in his stomach. Peter Sampsell was shot through the lung.

Two more shots were fired at the members of the crew, but they went wild. At this instant, Assistant Fire Chief Snedecer drove up. Covering the assistant chief and the members of the department with his revolver Durham made his retreat. As he disappeared in the darkness he called back to the men, "Tell my wife I am going to commit suicide."

Second Tragedy Discovered.

Within a few minutes the police were notified and a score of officers in automobiles were searching for Durham. When they went to his home the second tragedy was discovered. Durham had locked the doors of his home after him. No trace was found of the murderer.

At a hospital it was said that Sampsell would die and that there may be some hope for Elliott.

Fearing the crazed man might make an assault upon his parents, Chief of Police Wilson placed a guard about their house. A guard also was placed about Durham's home on D street to prevent the murderer returning and firing on those attending the bodies of his wife and child.

Mrs. Durham, according to neighbors, had been afraid of her husband and recently sent a warning to Chief Wilson.

IT WILL BE THE S. F. BOWSER PLAY GROUND

Mr. Bowser Offers to Fully Equip Play Spot in the Tenth Ward.

S. F. Bowser, president of the Bowser Oil Tank works, has made an offer to fully equip a public playground at his own expense, provided only that it be placed in the Tenth ward, where the oil works is situated. The board of park commissioners is very anxious to take advantage of this offer and is now looking for a location that will be favorable for a public playground.

In consideration of the generosity of Mr. Bowser, the new playground is to be known as the "S. F. Bowser Play Ground." While the new play spot will be open to children from all parts of the city, those that use it mostly will be from the eastern part, where many of the employes of the Bowser works reside. It is Mr. Bowser's intention to install every bit of equipment that would be at all practical, including various sorts of swings, ladders, teeter-totters, wading pools, etc.,

Mr. Bowser is an ardent advocate of the play ground idea, having taken much interest in the movement when it first began.

SECOND BROWNE TRIAL ON.

Alleged Legislative Boodler Again Faces Bar in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 1.—Lee O'Neil Browne, democratic minority leader of the Illinois legislature, faced trial today for the second time on the charge of having bribed fellow members of the legislature to vote for Wm. Lorimer for senator of the United States. Today's appearance before Judge Kersten was the signal for another attempt on the part of his attorneys to quash the indictment. At the former trial before Judge McSurely, which resulted in a disagreement of the jury which had been out many hours a similar effort was made in vain.

SLAYS SWEETHEART'S FATHER.

Benton, Ill., Aug. 1.—In the presence of Edith Newton, 16 years old, her father, James Newton and her suitor, Singleton Isom, fought a fatal pistol duel, resulting in Newton's death. Isom was put in jail today.

INTERNAL THROES CONVULSING SPAIN

Religious Issue, Carlists and Socialists Are Threatening.

ALFONSO'S LAND IN AN UPROAR

Biscayan Priests Preach Violently Against the Government.

Madrid, Aug. 1.—With Catholics at Rome expressing hopes that Don Jaime, the Carlist pretender, may raise the standard of revolt and the Catholics of the Biscayan provinces rise in insurrection and with the socialists in Spain threatening disorder, the Imparcial, which has hitherto been unfriendly to Premier Canalejas, ranges itself on the side of the government in the pending conflict with the vatican.

Cabinet is Supported.

The liberal press in general continues staunchly to support the cabinet, which has been left a free hand to carry through its policy by the departure of King Alfonso and his queen for England. The Imparcial says: "We are faithful members of the Roman Catholic church, but we always have regarded the issue not as a religious one, but as a national problem, involving the independence of civil power. Not Spain, but the vatican, has created the present situation.

Denounces Mery Del Val.

The Liberal expresses special indignation at the telegram of Cardinal Mery Del Val, the papal secretary of state, endorsing the attitude of the Biscayan Catholics, who threatened to precipitate civil war and in telegrams to the vatican placed their lives and property at its disposal for the conflict. Formerly Deputy Llorens, one of the Carlist leaders in Spain, left today for Frohstorf, the Austrian residence of Don Jaime, to confer with the pretender. His late departure would indicate that Carlist plans for a rising are in no specially advanced stage.

PRIESTS PREACH TROUBLE.

Bilbao, Spain, Aug. 1.—The Roman Catholic priests throughout the Biscayan or northern provinces of Spain preached violent sermons yesterday against the policy of the government in its conflict with Rome. Preparations for a great Catholic demonstration against the government are being continued, in spite of the declaration of the government to its organizers that no demonstrations threatening disorder would be allowed.

KING AND QUEEN LEAVE SPAIN.

San Sebastian, Spain, Aug. 1.—King Alfonso and Queen Victoria left today to pay a visit to the royal family in England. They will stop at Rambouillet, France, to visit President Fallieres of the French republic on the way.

VATICAN HAS NOT ACTED.

Rome, Aug. 1.—Although the Marquis de Ojeda, the Spanish ambassador to the vatican, has left Rome for Spain, the vatican has not as yet taken any decision in regard to the recall of the papal nuncio, Mgr. Vico, from Madrid.

FOREIGNER USED UP IN A FIGHT AT ARCOLA.

Is in Hospital With Fractured Skull and Assailant at Large.

A foreign laborer working on the Pennsylvania railroad at Arcola, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital last night suffering from the effects of a blow received at a saloon in Arcola Saturday night in which a beer bottle was used and the physicians attending him say that he is still in a semi-conscious condition, but will likely recover.

Information conveyed to Sheriff A. M. Reichelderfer points out George Ager as the man who wielded the beer bottle, but no warrant was placed in the hands of the officer and no arrest was made. The fight took place Saturday night and yesterday the Pennsylvania employes had the man removed to the hospital, as he wandered about all day and seemed dazed. The sheriff is watching the case carefully and says if the condition of the wounded man warrants it he will take Ager into custody.

THE WEATHER.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Indiana—Fair tonight and Tuesday; slightly warmer tonight in south portion; moderate to variable winds, mostly southerly.

Lower Michigan—Showers and thunderstorms this afternoon or tonight; slightly cooler tonight on west shore; Tuesday fair, winds mostly south to southwest and light to moderate.

Ohio—Partly cloudy with local showers tonight or Tuesday; slightly warmer tonight in eastern and southern portion; light to moderate south to southwest winds.

JUSTICE DOES NOT MOPE FOR CRIPPEN

utes his passengers would be taken ashore. Dew notified McCarthy and Denis. Presently Denis emerged from the cabin door with Crippen, whom he held firmly by the arm as they passed up the main companion way to the after deck where the gang plank was fixed, but by a side passage, passing both main cabins in a roundabout direction in a less conspicuous path.

Crippen, his face white as death, walked in with a shambling gait. As they passed the state room which the doctor had formerly occupied with Miss Leneve the door of that room swung open and Detective McCarthy led, or rather half carried Miss Leneve out to the passage way.

Both prisoners were so near to physical collapse that they scarcely glanced at each other. Miss Leneve tottered as she moved forward and hardly could have proceeded alone. On one side McCarthy held her gently by the arm while on the other side she was supported by a stewardess.

Woman Discards Male Attire.

The woman wore a gray dress which had been given her by the stewardess, when the boy's clothing were taken away from her. A heavy veil had been thrown over her head. But she scarcely needed the veil to hide her features for her head so bent that no one could have seen her face. On the way over from Antwerp the face of Miss Leneve had appeared too pretty for that of a boy. A half hour after she had been placed in custody her features appeared to be rather those of a well matured woman who had suffered much.

Dew led the way to the gangway, a steward carrying a small suit case marked "J. Robinson." This bag was the only baggage which the two brought with them. Neither had an extra suit of clothing. Crippen wore the same brown suit and hat that he did when he embarked at Antwerp but those who had seen him then and saw him today said that anxiety had given him a facial disguise more effective than any he had tried to assume. He is smooth shaven.

Crowd Terrified Them.

As they appeared on the gang plank and caught sight of the enormous crowd that surged about the pier desperately determined to get a glance at the pair, Crippen and the woman would have dropped in their tracks but for the strong arms which supported them.

Crippen's manacled hands swung loosely in front of him. Miss Leneve swayed from side to side. Her closely cut hair still gave her the boyish appearance which she had tried to adopt and many of the crowd were fooled into thinking that the diminutive figure was not that of the woman who had challenged the attention of two continents and believed that the police were using a little boy disguised as a woman to distract the attention of the crowd and so give them opportunity to remove the real prisoner with less inconvenience.

The little procession had scarcely reached the foot of the gang plank when the pushing crowd closed in around them and it was only after the police had charged that they were able to make a passage to the cab that was waiting just outside the pier shed.

In another moment the vehicle was clattering along the wooden floor of the pier and out into the narrow street that led to the provincial buildings. The door of the provincial jail stood open, awaiting its new guests, and the formalities necessary were quickly over. Crippen was placed in a cell smaller than the state room which he and his typist had occupied on the Montrose. More consideration was shown to Miss Leneve. She was given a large and comparatively comfortable room on an upper floor. This room had been fitted up for the occupation of a scrub woman employed in the jail. It was at the request of this humble servant of the public that the room better than any provided for prisoners, was given to the little woman who for love of a man has found herself a fugitive from justice.

Sympathy for Woman.

The act appears to be typical of the feeling prevailing here among a large part of Quebec's population today. The public refuses to put the woman in the same class with the man.

Early today throngs gathered outside the jail in anticipation of the appearance of the prisoners in court.

It is generally believed that Inspector Dew has failed to secure the hoped for confession. Whether Crippen has learned that the British authorities haven been unable to identify the dismembered body found in the cellar of his Hill Drop Crescent home as that of his actress wife is not known.

Captain Kendall Suspected.

Captain Kendall, of the Montrose, said today he suspected Crippen the moment he laid eyes on him shortly after the man boarded the steamer at Antwerp, on July 20.

"The English papers were full of the case while we were on the other side," said the captain. "I bought all the papers and used to lie in my bunk and read them. Look here——" and opening the drawer of the desk in the cabin the skipper produced half a dozen papers, Each containing pictures of Crippen and Miss Leneve. One of the dentist's pictures had the black mustache blocked out with white chalk. "I did that," continued Kendall, "the first day I saw the man aboard. He was clean shaven then, and I wanted to see how this likeness would look without the mustache. I blocked out the spectacles in the picture. Crippen wore no spectacles aboard. Here is the result, you can see how closely it resembles the man as he looks today and here is something else I did."

How He Identified Woman.

The skipper took from his desk a square of white card board with a round hole cut in the center and fitted over a newspaper cut of Miss Leneve. Thus superimposed it covered the girl's picture hat and dress leaving only the face showing. "I did this and compared the pictured face with that of the passenger Crippen said was his son. The resmblance is striking. After these experiments I was convinced almost as sure in fact as I was when we sailed up the St. Lawrence, and I and others aboard had been watching the couple for a week.

"Crippen was very wary in his talks with me. Several times I conversed with him in the cabin, but always I was careful to ask him no questions that would excite his suspicions. On the other hand, I took pains in our talks to quiet any fears he might entertain. Up to the hour of his arrest I believe that he did not dream how sure we were of their identity."

Crippen Seems to Have Suspected.

One circumstance only might give rise to a belief that the wary fugitive realized the suspicions of his fellow-passengers more than they believed.

Early yesterday morning before the Montrose reacher Father Point, one of the officers in the upper deck saw a package of revolver cartridges thrown overboard. He made an investigation and found that they came from the port hole of Crippen's cabin. It is possible, however, that the dentist got rid of his ammunition only as a general precaution, fearing that it might cause suspicion if found in his cabin when the ship neared her destination. From this incident it is supposed that Crippen also had a revolver, but as none was found in his state room when the officers searched it, it is believed that he managed to fling it overboard unobserved.

There are many today who believe that Crippen was taken less by surprise than had been planned.

Resources Exhausted.

It is certain that his resources for escape had dwindled until he was nearly helpless. He had a railroad ticket for Detroit, but only ten dollars in his pocket. Miss Leneve had not a cent. Crippen, however, did have several jewels concealed on his person. Captain Kendall was apprehensive of an attempt at suicide and as Father Point loomed in the distance yesterday forenoon he was careful to prepare Crippen for the arrival of the river pilot. Crippen and Miss Leneve had risen early and breakfasted together at 6 o'clock. Then Miss Leneve complained of a slight indisposition and retired to her state room.

Crippen Evidently Alarmed.

Crippen went on deck to watch for pilot boat. When it appeared carrying four men all in pilot garb, the fugitive turned suddenly to Dr. Stewart, the ship's physician, and eying the other searchingly said: "There seems to be too many pilots on board. I see four."

Stewart, who had been instructed not to leave Crippen's side until the arrest was made, gave a commonplace reply and Crippen again turned his eyes seaward.

Crippen remained hanging over the rail near the companionway as the tender of the pilot with the police officials paddled alongside. Inspector Dew, Chief McCarthy and Detective Denis, of the provincial police, were made up in an attempt to look life the fourth occupant of the boat, the real pilot. Dew, however, did not make a good pilot and his disguise was hardly more effective than that of his quarry. The English officer could not clamber up the rope ladder with a sailor's agility, and he all but upset the little boat when he left it.

Not Much to the Climax.

The denouement was simple enough. The recognition between Dew and Crippen was mutual and immediate.

When he reached the companionway and at last faced the man whom he long had sought the inspector said:

"Are you Dr. Crippen?"

To this Crippen replied quietly:

"I am."

Dew continued: "You are arrested on the charge of murder and mutilation of an unknown woman," quoting from the first sentence of the warrant which was later formally read by Chief McCarthy when the prisoner had accompanied his captors into cabin No. 8.

The first exchanges over. Dew nodded to McCarthy and the latter clapped a pair of handcuffs on Crippen's wrists. The prisoner made no resistance. In fact, he appeared relieved and as he turned in the direction indicated by the officers, said:

"I am glad. The suspense was too great."

Crippen Almost Breaks Down.

In the two-berth room to which he was conducted Crippen flung himself into a steamer chair and buried his face in his hands. McCarthy remained with him. Meantime Miss Leneve, alone, waited in her stateroom. Detective Denis said: "No handcuffs were used on the woman and none will be. She fainted at the shock of arrest, but was quickly restored."

WILL TAKE NO CHANCES.

London, Aug. 1.—With a view to preventing escape of Dr. Crippen and Miss Leneve through a technicality Scotland Yard today decided to comply with all formalities involved in the extradition laws of Canada.

Inspector Dew was instructed to ask simply that the Canadian court remand the accused until the arrival from London of a formal application for their extradition to England with evidence supporting the request.

Sergeant Mitchell, who assisted Dew in the preliminary investigation, will leave for Canada as soon as the necessary papers are ready, which will be either on Wednesday or Thursday of the present week. The evidence to be submitted to the Canadian authorities will include that taken at the inquest over the mutilated body unearthed in the Crippen cellar.

If the wishes of the police respecting the formalities of extradition are complied with the case is not likely to be opened in this city until September.

THE ARREST OF CRIPPEN.

Father Point, Quebec, Aug. 1.—Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen and Ethel Clare Leneve, his stenographer, who fled from London after the disappearance of Belle Elmore, the doctor's wife, were arrested here yesterday aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Montrose at the command of Inspector Dew, of Scotland Yard.

After brief delay the Montrose continued her 160-mile journey up the river toward Quebec, where jail awaited the pair. Crippen is charged with the murder of an unknown woman, believed to have been his actress wife. The girl is held as an accessory. In charge of Inspector Dew, they will be taken back to England for trial on the Royal line steamship Royal George, leaving Quebec on Thursday next.

Seldom has there been a scene surrounding the pursuit of a criminal so pregnant with dramatic features as that enacted off this little settlement yesterday morning. Inspector Dew had spent a sleepless night at the Marconi operator's side, communicating through the fog with the liner that bore the man and the woman he sought. The man had lied to him in London by fleeing the city with the mystery of Belle Elmore's disappearance unsolved, and a strong personal feeling entered into the case, accentuating the detective's desire to carry out the task assigned to him by Scotland Yard.

Whistle Gives Signal.

At 4:30 a. m. the approaching ship's whistle was heard above the bellowing of the Father Point fog horn. Like a giant alarm clock it awakened the nervous villagers and the expectant newspaper men who dressed hurriedly and waited in a drizzling rain for the liner's arrival. The minutes and the hours passed with tantalizing slowness. Inspector Dew's impatience increased. The rain continued to fall and the more ambitious residents, not to be denied the scene of capture, began to fit out their rowboats and variegated sailing craft ready to hasten to the liner's side immediately she arrived.

Shortly after 7:30 o'clock the Montrose pushed her nose through the fog and at 8:15 the pilot boat Eureka set out from shore. She carried a host of newspaper men and photographers and the more fortunate townspeople who were able to crowd aboard. But Inspector Dew was not among them. As a precaution he had embarked on the Eureka's small tender, accompanied by Chief McCarthy, of the Quebec police and former Chief Denis, of the same city.

Wear Pilot's Garb.

All wore the garb of pilots, and over his florid face Inspector Dew had pulled a pilot's vizored cap to hide his features from the man he sought. He did not wish Crippen to recognize him and take advantage of the only avenue of escape—suicide. Four sailors quickly rowed the tender alongside the Montrose, and Dew and his companions stepped aboard.

Crippen was standing near the rail talking with Dr. Stuart, the ship's surgeon, and attempting to appear calm. But that he was nervous was indicated by his furtive glances and his remark to Dr. Stuart.

"There are three pilots coming aboard," he said nervously. "Is that not unusual?"

The surgeon did not reply, but kept his eyes on the strangers, who walked rapidly toward them.

"Crippen, I want you," said Inspector Dew quietly, as he approached.

The dentist recoiled involuntarily as he recognized the man who addressed him, then the blood left his face, his breath came short and fast, and he gurgled incoherently. As he was being led away to the captain's cabin, whence he was transferred later to his own stateroom, he said gratefully: "Thank God! The suspense is over, and I am glad."

Miss Leneve Faints.

Crippen's arrest accomplished, Dew hurried to Miss Leneve's stateroom, where he found her, still dressed as "John Robinson, Jr.," on the verge of nervous breakdown. Her appearance, when confronted by the detective and told that she was under arrest, was pitiable. All control that she had fought so hard to retain throughout the voyage left her. She cried out hysterically and became so faint that restoratives were administered. Shut in her room and restored to women's dress, she was closely guarded as the vessel continued its journey for fear that she would take her life or collapse utterly.

Crippen was attired in a traveling suit of blue serge and tweed overcoat. Gold-rimmed eyeglasses rested on his nose, and from behind them his eyes looked out dully. His face was pale and drawn.

With both under arrest, the Montrose's whistle sounded hoarsely a signal to the waiting Eureka that Inspector Dew's search was at an end. Immediately the pilot boat came alongside and the newspaper men and photographers swarmed aboard.

An attraction at the Fairy theater, beginning on Wednesday of this week, will be pictures of the Elks' parade, taken at Detroit at the time of the recent convention. Mr. Mollet, manager of the Fairy, has the assurance of the Selig Poloscope company, who took the pictures, that the Fort Wayne lodge is positively shown in the film. The pictures will be shown here on Wednesday and Thursday and as it is the first time a moving picture of any lodge of this city has been taken, it is bound to be a drawing card for the Fairy. The Fort Wayne Elks can now have a chance to see themselves as others see them.

FIGHT IS MADE ON GASKILL SALOON LICENSE.

Keeper of Notorious Roadhouse is Declared to be Unfit.

In the commissioners' court today Burvillus Gaskill, proprietor of the notorious Bootjack saloon on the Illinois road, made application for a renewal of his liquor license and the case was set for a hearing this afternoon.

The application was met by a remonstrance from Benjamin H. Elliott, chief of the police department, who pronounced the applicant unfit and cited as his reasons that there had been four convictions against him in the city court and that he is now under a jail sentence of thirty days that he avoided serving by taking an appeal to the circuit court.

Gaskill is the fellow who sold drinks to girls and boys of fifteen and sixteen years of age and one of the witnesses against him had skipped out and could not be located when she was wanted by the police, but they made a strong case against him and convicted him.

He was also convicted and fined for allowing a number of the women from the lower world to enter his place and get drunk at 2 o'clock in the morning and of allowing women of ill repute to loiter in his place. His place is pronounced by the police to be one of the worst dives in the county, but for the last few months just preceding the time for the expiration of his license term he has not been convicted of any violations of the law.

The worst case was one in which he sold beer to a girl of fifteen who is now an inmate of the industrial school at Indianapolis. She was accompanied by Wanda Roberts, whom the police could not locate, and a couple of boys, one of whom has since been sent to reform school.

Rips Up Clark's Place.

William Hackman has filed a cross-complaint to the complaint filed by his wife, Florence Hackman, for a divorce in which he takes an awful rip at Tom Clark's place on East Columbia street and says that she was taken out of there to police headquarters with some notorious women and that she was a frequenter of the saloon where she drank with bad women and lewd men. He says that he has followed her and seen her enter the Clark place and that once she was arrested by the police in a drunken condition and taken to police station where a male friend put up a bond for her appearance next morning in court. She is further charged with remaining out all night and failing to account properly for her whereabouts and with having associated with other men. He met her, he says, with another man on the street and when he accosted them the fellow excused himself and said he didn't know she was a married woman. She told him that was all right as she would soon get a divorce.

Lahey Withdrew Application.

James J. Lahey, who wanted to conduct a saloon at Arcola, withdrew his application in the commissioners' court today when he was met b ya remonstrance signed by a number of residents of the township.

Got Big Judgment.

In the superior court Julia Fay Randall was given a judgment for $2,148 against the National Art Glass company. She sued the company on a note for $2,246.

POIRSON PAYS FINE OF $50 AND THE TRIMMINGS

The Chili Parlor Man Concludes to Enter Plea of Guilty—Docket.

It took Frank Poirson a long time to make up his mind to plead guilty in the city court this morning to the charge that he harbored women of bad repute around his saloon and Chili parlors on South Calhoun street, and when he finally admitted that the place is a dive for the entertainment of women of the lower world, Judge J. Frank Mungovan gave him the limit of $50 and costs and expressed some regret that he could not add a jail sentence.

Officers were all warmed up for a fight and had expected that there would be a battle, but they were ready to show the place up in its true light, and this probably influenced the owner to plead guilty as there was not a chance in a hundred for him to win.

The Other Cases.

Two young scions of well known families had an awful battle in the flat district and were arrested for assault and battery under the names of Otto Walter and Rodney Burgess. Their cases were continued until Wednesday morning.

Martin Kramer, a big husky laborer, who has failed to pay $15 a month for the support of his children because he drank up too much of his earnings, got a grilling from Judge Mungovan who continued his case thirty days with the assurance that unless he provides for his little ones that his case will be certified to the circuit court and an effort made to send him to the state's prison.

Alfred Tapping, whose actions on West Main street Saturday night excited suspicion, was up for loitering and was let go with a lecture.

Thomas Shafer and William Carpenter, plain drunks, were fined $1 and costs each, and Jesse Williams and Charles Harkenrider were let go.

Grace Johnson, a negress, was fined $5 and costs for loitering.

Miss Irene Comparet, who has been spending the summer at Clear lake, was brought to this city Saturday and taken to the Lutheran hospital for treatment. And Dr. Crippen didn't have the shadow of a notion of the stir he was making in the world. He knows it now, if that's any consolation to a man whose situation is precarious and whose future is dark.

It appears there is no law by which the statue of General Robert E. Lee can be removed from statuary hall in the capitol at Washington. Tis is the finding of Attorney General Wickersham who is reporting on it to the president. The balance, if any, is up to Virginia.

Senator Aldrich denounces Senator Bristow as a liar in his charges concerning the job done with the rubber schedule in behalf of the rubber trust. He wonders why things of the Bristow sort are not said in the senate. Perhaps one reason is that with Honorable Nelson Wilmarth Aldrich running the senate much as he lists it is not always possible to find out what's going on at the time it has the merit of fresh news.

Once more Lee O'Neil Brown, putative king of the boodlers in the Illinois legislature, is on trial for some alleged "fine work" in connection with the elevation of Hon. "Billy" Lorimer to the senate of the United States. At the conclusion of the former trial, during which the jury deliberated five days and disagreed, State's Attorney Wayman declared the mistrial to be the result of as bold a case of jury fixing as had ever come to his notice. From which we take it State's Attorney Wayman will be more than ever careful as to the who's who and what's what in the picking of the twelve for the repeat performance.

Out in Kansas there will before long be a delivery of some 5,000 automobiles. That means the expenditure of some money even in Kansas, where it is more abundant than formerly. Along with this announcement it is interesting to note that the sheriff of one of the Jayhawk counties which is well stocked with gasoline cars says it keeps a half dozen deputies more than busy as process servers on automobile owners. The plaintiffs in these suits are not men who sell automobiles or are in any way related to the business of making, selling or upkeeping of motor vehicles. The butcher, the baker, the grocer, the dry goods man and others who trade in staples find trouble doing business with the man who can afford a touring car, but has to run his current bills an indefinite period over thirty days. The Kansas sheriff avers that he has six to eight automobiles on his hands all the time on attachments. Some folks may say that Kansas always was peculiar. But is this business peculiar to Kansas?

One of the greatest men who ever came out of Kentucky has just passed away and in him goes almost the last of the old school statesmen of that commonwealth which has given so many illustrious sons to the nation. John G. Carlisle embodied all that has been considered ideal and traditional in an American statesman. He was born to a humble station, he was very poor, he was self-educated and self-made, he was a gifted orator and he was in all ways upright and honorable. He served with great distinction in congress as a democratic leader and for three terms as speaker. He was serving his first term in the senate when Mr. Cleveland called him into the cabinet of his second administration, where to the end of it as secretary of the treasury Mr. Carlisle gave his chief's monetary policies unhesitating support. Mr. Carlisle was one of the ablest statesmen of his times.

Spain cannot well exist without state turmoil of some description. Last year the disasters of the war on the Riff coast provoked the populace to rise against that mercenary and unjustifiable conflict. Now it is a situation at least potential of if not actually bordering upon civil war growing out of an acute controversy with the vatican. The premier, Senor Canalejas in what he describes as an endeavor to modernize Spain has provoked the ultra-Catholic elements of the realm and not only gives the pretender, Don Jaime of Bourbon, a coveted opportunity but opens vistas of possibility to the socialists. It is a disquieting situation truly and one whereof the issue does not declare itself. Undoubtedly it is the purpose of the premier if he shall prove able to get on with his program to pave the way for an ultimate dissolution of the ancient order of church and state. So far he has had the support of King Alfonso, though it may be questioned if the monarch is prepared to bear the burden as far as Canalejas seems purposing to go. The Catholics in some of the provinces are preparing to raise the standard of revolt and Don Jaime is snorting his call to his followers to be ready to rush to his colors when he blows the blast of war. It may be that the government and the vatican will reach some composition of their bitter quarrel and deprive the Carlists and the more to be feared socialists of both pretext and opportunity for trouble. The vatican certainly cannot want and the government surely will not have any overturning if it can be prevented. Revolution in Spain now will hardly mean a Carlist accession. Spain is too nearly ripe for republicanism.

MIDNIGHT HOTEL FIRE.

Hedekin House Damaged by Flames—Believed of Incendiary Origin.

Flames that are believed to have been of incendiary origin started in the kitchen of the Hedekin house on Barr street at midnight Saturday night and before they could be extinguished had damaged the lower floor to the extent of about $800. No cause can be ascribed for the fire, other than that it was of incendiary origin.

Sleeping in the house were about twenty-five guests and they were all quickly aroused and taken from the building. Jacob Swaidner is proprietor of the hostelry and the building is owned by the Hedekin estate.

The Cut Rate barber shop, corner of Calhoun and Masterson avenue, was damaged about $25 early Sunday morning by fire that originated in a sawdust cuspidor, into which a cigar stub had been thrown.

THIS COUNT, IN OVERALLS, GOES TO HIS WORK ON FREIGHT TRAIN

Son-in-Law of Railroad Owner and Wealthy Himself, is Steel Mill Graduate—Luxembourg Nobleman and Soldier Has Wife, a Millionaire's Daughter, with Him.

COUNT VON MOURIK DE BEAUFORT IN WORKING GARB.

COUNT VON MOURIK DE BEAUFORT AND HIS FAMOUS DOG "BOB."

COUNTESS VON MOURIK DE BEAUFORT.

New York, Aug. 1.—Royalty in overalls, or aristocracy carrying a dinner pail and having to run from the ancestral castle to catch an early freight train in order to get to a steel mill when the whistle blows, might seem only a socialistic dream of perfection, but in the case of Count Mourik de Beaufort it happens to be a stern reality, only the count does not call it stern.

To him it is the greatest thing in the world, and his beautiful young wife, who was Miss Irma Kilgallen, the only daughter of Mr. M. L. Kilgallen, a Chicago millionaire, is about as proud of her husband's work as any young wife could be, even taking into consideration the fact that she is a young wife.

The count and countess are stopping at the St. Regis hotel today, but leave late this afternoon for Bayshead, N. J., where they are to spend a few days, for, despite the fact that the countess is the only daughter of a millionaire and that her husband, besides being a descendant of one of the oldest families of Europe, has an ample fortune of his own, he is only taking the same time allowance for vacation that is allowed trainmen, conductors and tenders of switches on the Chicago Heights Terminal and Transportation railroad, which his father-in-law owns.

While in Bayshead they will live in the manner that most counts and countesses do, but when vacation is over it will be back again to Chicago for them and catching the 4:30 freight out of the freight yards for the count.

Prior to the time that he married Miss Kilgallen, ten months ago, he was a commissioned officer, whose Luxembourg birthright entitled him to serve in either the armies of Holland, France or England. To take advantage of this he served in them all. The marriage of Miss Kilgallen and the count de Beufort was not the mercenary affair that is a big asset of the humorist and cartoonist, but a real love match. Both were wealthy and both in love, not with lucre or titles, but with each other.

After a trip around the world the young couple went to live in Chicago. The day they got there the count announced that he was going to work. He did not consult his father-in-law about this, but went direct to the employment office of the Chicago Tool Steel company, in Chicago Heights, and applied for a "job." The man in charge of the office looked him over and decided that he was a pretty healthy young chap, but warned him that it would be hard for a man who spoke only English to get along with the foreigners who worked in the lower grades of unskilled labor where he would have to start.

"What language do they speak?" asked the applicant.

"Oh, everything—German, French, Italian, Austrian, Spanish and some of them Russian," was the reply.

"That's not so hard," said the count. "I speak them all and a couple more. I've got a couple of dialects of Congo to turn loose on them and a few accents from the Dutch East Indies and then something up my sleeve, so I guess you ought to hire me."

That was enough. The count, giving his name as "Jack Beaufort," went to work. He and his wife went to live in a cottage in Chicago Heights. Although he said nothing about himself, it did not take long for the laborers to learn that the new hand was a son-in-law of the man who not only built Chicago Heights, but also owned the Heights railroad, which encircled the town and acted as the transfer railroad for all the lines which either passed near it or entered Chicago.

At first they held a little aloof from him, but after a couple of days found him as democratic as anyone, and by the end of the month there was not a more popular workman in the place. Inside of three months he had become a puddler and earning as much as any man in the place. Then he decided to enter the rolling mill.

At this his father-in-law put his foot down and declared that if his son-in-law wanted to work, he must start in the railroad business, for he knew enough about steel already; so, a couple of days later, there was a new switchman on the transfer road at the Heights. After this, the count took up the gentle art of handling a truck, and then went to a still more refined grade of railroading, that of firing a yard engine. From this on his rise was rapid, for he soon became an extra hand on a section gang and then a brakeman.

The count, when seen in the St Regis today, proved that the stories that have reached here about him were by no means exaggerated. He is one of the most democratic, straight-from-the-shoulder sort of men that ever struck this city, and to picture him as a gentleman of leisure, as he has been by some, is a vast mistake.

The count is not very tall. He measures between five feet six and eight inches and weighs about one hundred and sixty pounds. His shoulders are broad and his general make-up shows him to have the power of a trained athlete. Shaking hands with him proves the surmise correct. He is tanned to a nut brown and his brown eyes are clear.

"Why, surely!" he exclaimed, laughingly, when asked if he had really become a laborer. "I am proud to be one. It was not half as hard working in Chicago as it was campaigning in India and Sumatra, and you get regular meals out there and you don't in the East Indies.

"I have to get up early now to go to work, for we have given up our little cottage in Chicago Heights, and to get to the railroad yards before 5 o'clock I have to catch the 4:30 freight, but I'm used to it now and never felt more fit in my life. I generally eat with the men in a lunch room and pay 25 cents for as good a meal as anyone would want. The men have realized that I am not being shown any favoritism and I am 'Jack' to all of them now and they are 'Bill,' 'Jim,' 'Hank' or 'Old Scout' to me. I like the work, as the hours are not so long as on some other railroads. I am able to get home by a little after six at night."

Questioned about his being strong enough to do the work he laughed. "Say," he said, "just feel this," and the reporter put his hand on biceps that surely were some muscles.

"I feel so strong," he continued, "that if I were of a pugnacious disposition I would think of going after the white man's burden and teaching 'Jack' Johnson a thing or two, but I am too busy being a railroad man to think of that. I feel better now than I ever did before. Am happier, of course, and have not a thing in the world to worry me."

When questioned about what he thought of the conditions in this country in regard to the laborer and unskilled workman, the count replied:

"First of all, please don't use the word 'count.' I am in America, and ever since I came here I want to be called plain Mr. Beaufort, or 'Jack' Beaufort, and nothing else. Now, as to the social conditions. I think that the unskilled as well as the skilled workman in America is a hundred times happier, healthier and more satisfied with life than in any other place in the world. He has practically all that money can buy, and the treatment he receives is more than a man in a similar position in Europe could understand. He is as good as his employer when work is through and has the same privileges."

Count de Beaufort spent most of his life in England. He is a captain of artillery in the Luxembourg army and has served in the Congo for more than a year under the Belgian rule, besides the time he had been with the Dutch army, in the Far East, and with the English. He is at present writing a book on campaigns in the East Indies, but has little time to work at it.

The count and countess have with them their noted bulldog, which, prior to their marriage, the count took around the world with him. 'Bob' is a most sagacious animal and, despite the fact that he is one of the most valuable canines in the world, is as fond of chasing cats, the count says, as any dog that never got outside of New York.

SCHMIK WILL PLAY FIRS FOR THE BNDERS

Zanesville Pitcher is Slated to Succeed Buck Connors.

[South Bend News.]

Pitcher Schmick of the Zanesville club, was purchased by Manager Wheeler Saturday afternoon and will take up the duties of guardian of the first sack Monday. Schmick is a fast fielder and a fair hitter and Wheeler believes that he can be developed into one of the fastest first basemen of the league. Schmick will arrive in the city today, but will not start work until Monday. He is also a fine twirler and should prove a tower of strength to the Bends.

Connors will be sent to the bench when Schmick's takes up Buck's work. Connors has not been going good lately and it is thought that a rest will do him a world of good.

Manager Wheeler and Pitcher Hobart have been unable to agree on the salary question and negotiations for securing the Nap are about broken off.

Dave Martin, purchased from Grand Rapids, missed connections and was unable to get here Saturday. He will arrive today, however. Dave will not work today for the same reason that Schmick will stay on the bench. Manager Wheeler does not think it a good plan to send a player into the game the same day that he arrives in a new town. Ted Corbitt will work today. He will probably be opposed by Neuschafer.

The fans gave "Scoops" Carey $59.64 after he had slammed the ball all over the right field fence for a home run with two on Saturday. Immediately after the hat change flew thick and fast among the 891 fans who attended Saturday's game. (Bilious Fort Wayne scribes please note.)

In addition to this he received $5 from the Bull Durham Tobacco company. The company gives $5 to every player making a home run on a field where a Bull Durham sign is located. He received a pair of shoes from the Walk-Over boot shop, hats from Spiegel and Ettinger-Steel-Johnson's. He also got $2 in trade at Pommert and Jay's barber shop and Hullie's cigar store. Each of these places giving $1 in merchandise for every three-base hit made by South Bend players on the local lot. Carey made a single, a double, a triple and a home run.

Today will be a big day at Springbrook. The Vets opened here with the firm determination to take two out of three and their papers are working hard for Iggs to break that way. The fact that the Benders trimmed them yesterday and also defeated "Demon" Jimmy Wear, who has had it on South Bend all season, will make them fight hard to take today's battle. With good weather, and the weather man has been obliging in prediction, the park should be packed overflowing. The mere fact that Corbitt will pitch should be sufficient to bring out a big crowd. Corbitt has pitched in one of the Sunday games played here as it has never been his turn before. As this is his first year here there are many who have not seen the big fellow in action. Manager Wheeler promises, however, that the one and only incomparable Ted will be trotted out to take the Old Soldiers' measure this afternoon.

The Benders have just finished a week of as grand uphill fighting as one would care to see. The last four games have been played with teams in second and third places in the league race and three of them have gone the right way. All of them have been won when the contest appeared hopelessly lost and the sensational finishes have served to show the mettle of the players.

Another encouraging feature in connection with the recent games is the attendance. The crowds sent the receipts of the Billiken games far above the guarantee limit and the attendance Saturday of 891 should effectually silence the Fort Wayne scribes who are throwing mud at South Bend's attendance, simply because the bunch of ball tossers of this city have squelched the proteges of Burke in eight of the eleven games which the clubs have played this year.

AT THE MAJESTIC THREE TIMES AT END OF THIS WEEK.

JANE EUSTACE AND HALL McALLISTER IN "HER SON."

The seat sale for the three performances of "Her Son," the new play by Charles Bradley which W. C. Fridley will present at the Majestic theater next Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee (Aug. 5 and 6) will be placed on sale at the box office at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Considerable interest has been awakened by the announcement that this remarkable play is to be presented here and there should be an unusually large demand for seats. "Her Son" goes from here direct to Powers theater, Chicago, for a long engagement, so that Fort Wayne will be the only city in this section of the country in which it will be seen for some time to come. The play was tried out in Brooklyn late last spring and proved a sensational success, so that Fort Wayne is in no sense "the dog" in this case. In the cast will be seen such well-known players as Misses Jenny Eustace, Katherine Emmet, Margaret Lawrence, Margherita Sargent, and Messrs. Sydney Booth, William Riley Hatch, Hall McAllister and Arthur Behrens.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Black Duck, Minn.—"About a year ago I wrote you that I was sick and could not do any of my housework. My sickness was called Retroflexion. When I would sit down I felt as if I could not get up. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and did just as you told me and now I am perfectly cured, and have a big baby boy."—MRS. ANNA ANDERSON, Box 19, Black Duck, Minn.

Consider This Advice.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

THE LUTHERAN HOSPITAL.

Not Known How Much Was Contributed at Sunday Meetings.

In all the German Lutheran churches in this city Sunday collections and subscriptions were taken to liquidate the debt of the Lutheran hospital, as was also the case in the other Lutheran churches in this vicinity, some fifty in number. The amount raised is not known and will not be known until the reports from the various congregations have been received, which will not be until the last of the week. It is known, however, that the donations for this cause were liberal, those from the congregations in this city being especially so.

Sunday afternoon a union meeting of the churches to assist in this debt-lifting cause was held at the gymnasium building on the Concordia college grounds and it was largely attended. The address of the afternoon was delivered by Rev. A. Almstedt, the superintendent of the Lutheran hospital at Granite City, Ill.

S.S.S. CURES OLD BLOOD DISEASES

Contagious Blood Poison is responsible for a great many old blood troubles; for its evil influences are often felt through many generations. Parents transmit the seeds of the disease to their children, and scrofulous sores, skin eruptions, catarrhal troubles, Rheumatism, ulcerating glands, and other stubborn diseases result from this most insidious of all poisons. There is no such thing as killing the germs of this mighty poison. Any medicine powerful enough to do this would destroy the delicate linings of the stomach and bowels, and permanently wreck the entire health. The only way to cure these old blood diseases is to REMOVE the cause from the circulation, and that is just what S. S. S. does. It goes into the blood and drives out every taint and poison and makes this vital fluid pure, fresh and nourishing. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks; it does not contain the least particle of mineral in any form, and is absolutely safe for persons of any age. S. S. S. cures blood diseases and disorders of every character, whether inherited or acquired. Book on the Blood and any medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

THIS MONTH to any and all persons buying our Four-Room Outfit, merchandise to the value of $140. Or if you don't care to furnish this month, but contemplate buying in the near future, select now—take advantage of this offer. Your goods will be carefully selected and stored at our expense, and delivered later.

Have you looked into our Four-Room Outfit? Only $15 cash, the balance on easy terms. A little each week, or each month—we will make arrangements that will suit you and all concerned. Not a meager list, but a complete home. A full parlor suit, with an extra chair to match, and a parlor table, the lace curtains, the pictures, the rug, etc. And so the dining room—a pretty buffet or sideboard, which ever you prefer, and a round pedestal extension table, and chairs to match—and the carpet, and the pictures, and the lace curtains. And so the kitchen and the bedroom—just as satisfactorily furnished—just as substantially.

Clearance prices prevail throughout the establishment, with special price-cutting on odd pieces such as odd dressers, left over from complete sets, odd mission chairs, odd library tables, odd china closets, buffets, parlor pieces, odd rugs of patterns that are to be discontinued—in fact, every line is represented. Absolutely perfect in every respect, but remnants, so to speak—a sort of Bargain Hunter's Picnic. These prices do not in the least affect this store's most liberal terms.

Just for a Change Let's have a heart-to-heart talk this week. You have been thinking of buying furture—perhaps you are putting away a little money each week in the savings bank. Who knows but what you have it tied up in a stocking? It will take you a year, or two, or three, before you accumulate enough to pay for a household of furniture, and all this time your girl is waiting. It isn't fair to her—it isn't fair to yourself. The real man in you first crops out when you have responsibility thrust upon you. Marriage is a responsibilty, with its accompanying pleasures. Someone to provide for—someone to look up to you for comfort and support, and someone to look to for sympathy and encouragement. This is what makes life worth living. Let us furnish your home in a manner that will insure comfort and happiness, and all you need is a few dollars to bind the bargain, the balance you can pay in weekly or monthly installments. There will be no obnoxious question, no third degree. We will thank you—we will wish you joy—we will do our best to contribute towards it. Now, then why not come in—say how do—open an account with us, and let us do the fretting?

6 SIZES 32 TO 42 BUST

No matter how many dresses one may have, several shirt waists should be included in the wardrobe. This season many of the smartest models show little or no trimming, and are cut with the sleeves and waist in one. A design of this character is pictured, and the pattern is cut in six sizes that run from twenty-two to thirty-two inches bust measure. To copy it in the medium sizes it requires two and one-eighth yards of goods thirty-six inches wide, or one and three-quarter yards forty-four inches wide.

This waist is cut with an underarm gore that improves the set of the garment and adds much to its wearing qualities. It will be pretty and serviceable developed from pique, linen, cotton, poplin or crosshar muslin, and worn with either a standing or Dutch collar. The garment may be cut out and completely finished in less than two hours if it is made as illustrated. After the underarm gores are basted in position, according to the notches, and the box pleat at the front stitched, the waist should be tried on and, if the fit is satisfactory, the seams felled. The regulation shirt waist cuffs finish the sleeves, and a band is placed at the neck. In order to do away with all fullness below the waist line and to keep the waist in position the pattern provides a peplan, which is trimmed at the ends and lower edge, and joined to the waist with an ordinary seam. The seam should be taped in order to strengthen it, and then bound with a bias strip of soft lawn.

Waists of this character are very pretty made from allover embroidery and worn with lingerie cuffs and collar. A jabot of soft mull, trimmed with Irish crochet or thread lace, will add much to the good appearance of a plain linen or pique waist.

This waist, combined with a plain seven or nine gored skirt of matching material, would give one a most satisfactory tub frock that would be easy to launder.

"First Aid to the Wilted" Restoratives in Summer

Woman Who Goes to Town Daily is Never Without These Simple Refreshers.

Her "first aid to the wilted" is the name a woman who goes to town daily in summer has given to a set of restoratives she is never without. They consist of a small flask of camphor water lotion, a bit of absorbent cotton, the smallest atomizer that can be bought, a small box of powder and a homeopathic phial in which is a teaspoonful of aromatic spirits of ammonia. Also she carries a fresh linen collar, and she has been known to be in town during the hottest day and appear fresh looking at an outdoor restaurant in the evening.

"Camphor water lotion is a boon," she declared. "It is cleansing, of course—far more than soap—astringent and rather refreshing. The atomizer? Why, there is toilet water in that; violet by preference, but the odor may be what one chooses. The absorbent cotton is my wash rag, figuratively speaking, for towels are not always to be had, and I do not care to carry a soiled handkerchief with me. Besides, cotton crushes into the smallest possible space when fresh, and is thrown away when used. I use absorbent cotton for face powder much of the time in summer instead of puffs. It is always fresh, you see.

"To proceed to my renovating method when in town in summer:

"A close veil over my face in the train doesn't seem to make me any warmer, and it undoubtedly makes me look better, so I wear that. When I issue from the station I look rather well, I think, but after about two hours town begins to show its effect, and I feel horrid, too. Then it is that I hie me to a dressing room in one of the large shops and get cool.

"I take off my veil, unfasten my collar and wet the absorbent cotton with the camphor water lotion. Face and neck are thoroughly gone over, and the cleansing feels good, I assure you. Then I spray on a little toilet water, powder face and neck thoroughly, fasten my collar and go forth a reinvigorated woman. A fresh collar, which I always carry, I do not necessarily put on; but it will be well to have one in case the day is intensely hot, or I stay longer than I expected. It is astonishing how much more self-respecting a clean collar will make a woman feel!"

The formula for making camphor water lotion has been given many times, but for the benefit of those who may not have seen it I am glad to repeat it. It is made from a pint of camphor water, half an ounce of glycerine and a quarter of an ounce of powdered borax. This is excellent for constant use, refining and whitening the skin. A formula suited to excessive perspiration will be sent on receipt of request, when accompanied by stamped and self-addressed envelope.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

A simple method for cleaning tan shoes is to rub with a flannel dipped into turpentine, rubbing off with a clean flannel. This will remove spots and stains (any dried mud should first be washed off with water) and make the shoes look almost new again.

There are, of course, good polishes for tan leather to be bought, but supposing one cannot procure it just when needed, try the turpentine.

A clever contrivance for keeping the weight of the bed clothing from an invalid is formed by two pieces of wire slightly arched, the ends turned under for slipping under the mattress. The wires should be placed several inches apart and may be covered with ribbon. The two are connected by narrow ribbon passed over and under the wires or by arranging it in trellis fashion. The arch is adjusted to the bed after the invalid is comfortably settled and the bed clothing brought up over. The warmth is then provided for, but practically without weight.

Ebonized wood may be cleaned or restored by mixing equal parts of powdered pumice stone and linseed oil. The rubbing should be done the way of the grain, and afterward the wood must be polished with a dry soft cloth.

Lacquered brass that has been greatly neglected should be dipped in lukewarm water and then rubbed with salt and vinegar, polishing afterward with a dry leather.

Some Excellent Simple Prizes for Bridge or Euchre

Many Pretty Trifles Recommend Themselves as Both Appropriate and Inexpensive.

Silver sets for running ribbons of various widths through lingerie make excellent simple prizes for bridge or euchre. There are usually four "leaders," as the bodkins are called, in each set, and in little brocaded covers, as they are becoming attractive as well as useful. Another pretty trifle that every girl likes to have is a small housewife for her sewing bag. A tiny fancy emery cushion, a small pair of scissors, a needle case and sometimes a gay bit of wax—all silver mounted and joined together—are desirable and not expensive.

So great is the fad for bridge scores of various kinds that they are always excellent prizes for men as well as women. Most elaborate are some of the newest pads and books, being bound in gayest fashion and having small reminders of the trump so arranged as to change it after each hand. Pencils accompany them, and the cases may be used again when the original scores have been exhausted.

Many of the little bits of silver for wrist chatelaines should be on the list of things to buy for card prizes. According as one has little or much money to spend the number purchased may be increased or decreased and novelties are being brought out constantly. A "charity box," one of those holders of nickels, is wished for now by every woman, so frequently does she use the coins for carfares and telephone calls. Memorandum tablets, with silver covers, collapsible pencils, "vanity boxes" and purses are among the pretty trinkets that one wishes to own.

Of hat pins no girl can have too many, and if buckles in themselves are not new the shapes and designs in which they are fashioned change so frequently that many are required to keep abreast of the times. Parasols make charming prizes and are inexpensive frequently when picked up from a bargain table.

Prizes specially adapted to men require more thought than those for women, and the cry for something new goes on ceaselessly. Truth to tell, men are not half so eager for novelties as are women and a picture frame, a flexible separate cover for a magazine, a fountain pen, a thermos bottle or some small accessory for a motor car gives him entire satisfaction.

Cheese Custard.

Beat up four eggs, add half a cupful of boiling milk, three heaping tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, seasoning with salt, pepper and red pepper; divide into some small buttered timbale molds, stirring all the time, so as not to let the cheese settle. Stand the molds in a saucepan, allowing the water to come within half an inch of the top; simmer very gently until set. Serve on rounds of toast.

Cherry Compote.

Take two pounds of cherries, one cupful of sugar and the strained juice of two lemons. The cherries should be red, as they will have a more piquant flavor. Cut the stalks, leaving an inch to each cherry, then put the fruit into a saucepan with the sugar and lemon juice. Put them over a slow fire, shaking the pan occasionally. Boil three minutes, then remove them from the saucepan. Return any of the syrup to the saucepan and reduce it by boiling. When ready for serving pile the cherries in a pyramid in a glass dish and pour the syrup over them.

Addressed to Those Few We Have Not Convinced

There still remain a few women whom we have not convinced; whom we have not persuaded to try Perfection Bread.

These women are now roasting themselves, or their cooks, to the limits of their endurance.

It is to these women we are talking now. We ask you to do this:

Take our word for the fact that Perfection Bread is pure, and clean, and wholesome. Then give up your own bread baking during this hot spell, and eat Perfection Bread.

We are not asking you (whom we have not convinced) to give up your own baking because "Perfection" is as good, but because it save you so much work.

You will find out for yourself that "Perfection" IS as good as your own baking.

Will you take this suggestion? Order Perfection Bread from your own dealer.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

PIONEER OF WELLS DIED AT BLUFFTON

Wm. W. Weisell, Former Sheriff, and Prominent in Business Interests of City.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 1.—William W. Weisell, sr., one of the pioneer citizens of Wells county, died Saturday afternoon at his home in this city, aged 84 years, after an extended period of invalidism. Death was due largely to kidney trouble, but that affection was greatly aggravated by the infirmities of his advanced age. Mr. Weisell had been in poor health for the past two years.

In his death a prominent character in the early business and social life of Bluffton and Wells county came to a close. Mr. Weisell was perhaps one of the best known residents of the county; his business interests were large and brought him in contact with the majority of the other residents in this part of the state. He had been active in democratic politics for many years.

Long engaged in farming, in 1872 he was elected sheriff of Wells county and held that office for two terms, being re-elected in 1874. In 1873 he moved to Bluffton. At the expiration of his term of office as sheriff he engaged in the manufacture of ow from flax for the southern markets, and was so engaged until 1881, when his mill was destroyed by fire.

In 1881 he became associated with T. Horton and W. I. Fitch in manufacturing corn planters and washing machines. The name was T. Horton & Co., but in 1884 it was changed to the Bluffton Manufacturing company and Lee S. Kapp was admitted to partnership. Their plant was for a long time one of the city's leading industries.

He is survived by his widow and by three children, all well known—W. W. Weisell, jr., the clothing merchant; Mrs. R. F. Cummins and Miss Coe Weisell. He was a member of the Masonic order and was also a member of the First M. E. church of this city.

NEW SOUTH MILFORD BANK.

Making a Chain of Four Banks in Noble County.

Kendallville, Ind., Aug. 1.—A new bank has been established at South Milford, the name of the new institution being the Farmers' bank. While the new concern is a private bank, it is affiliated with the Noble County bank, of this city. The institution of this bank makes a chain of four banks working in harmony with each other in this city and vicinity. Here there are the Noble County and the Kendallville Trust and Savings banks, in Avilla the Merchants' and Farmers' bank, and now the Farmers' at South Milford.

IS APPROACHING COMPLETION.

Columbia City, Ind., Aug. 1.—Work on the Myers ice cream plant continues to go forward with rapidity. The walls are now up for the first story and the joists are being put in position for the second floor. Inside of a week the building will be ready for the roof.

A HARD FIGHT

THE STORY OF A FAILURE.

The writer was called to the 'phone by a prominent attorney of San Francisco who said that a friend of his was dying of Bright's Disease and that if we could do anything to send the treatment and a physician. Both were sent. The doctor phoned back that the patient was at the end of a year's fight with chronic Bright's Disease and was almost a skeleton, and was in coma, and that the priests had administered the last rites, and that the attending physicians had told the patient's wife that it was only a question of hours and he declared with considerable spirit that he had practically been called in to sign the death certificate. The patient, a San Francisco business man, was in charge of the nurses. They said that nothing had passed into or out of the patient's stomach for twenty-four hours; that it had ceased to act—would not hold peptonized milk—and that they were waiting for the end. Our consulting physician did not think that there was one chance in a thousand, but started a hard fight for that chance. Jumping into a carriage, he went to Wakelee & Co.'s, procured a high twenty-inch tube and the necessary adjuncts and returned for an all night's fight to keep the patient alive. After four hours with emulsions through the high tube the impacted feces were removed and, as the stomach had almost ceased functioning, the patient was fed and given both treatment and food per rectum. The food and treatment were administered and withdrawn every three hours, night and day. The patient was given an alcohol and emulsion rub alternately every three hours. He was given no food by the stomach for ten days except a little champagne and cracked ice. The second day he began to move a little. The fourth day he was beginning to clear mentally. In two weeks his stomach began to accept chicken and solid foods. In a month he was walking around the room, and in two months (contrary to the strenuous advice of the physician) he insisted on taking a Southern trip. He was not as strong as he thought and suffered a relapse. The physician was telegraphed for and went South to attend and bring him home, but the trip and consequent relapse was so serious that the patient expired on arrival in San Francisco.

This was a battle against tremendous odds and it is our belief that it would have been won if the patient had followed the physician's advice and given up the trip until he was stronger.

The attorney mentioned who called up up by 'phone was the Hon. Barclay Henley, the ex-member of Congress and well-known lawyer of San Francisco. His offices are in the Pacific Building on Market street and he will doubtless confirm these facts to any one who may be interested. We refer to this instance and his name is connected therewith without his consent. We could hardly afford to do this if the above was not strictly true.

We consider the treatment that this physician used in this case to aid the Renal Compound as so important that it was at our request written up in detail giving the various prescriptions and formulae. We will mail it to physicians who may have critical cases like the above.

Bright's Disease is now curable in a great majority of all cases by the new emollient treatment—Fulton's Renal Compound. It may be had in your city of the D. & N. Pharmacy, 624 Calhoun St.

Literature mailed free. Address John J. Fulton Co., 845 Battery St., San Francisco. We desire to hear from and advise with every case not making the usual recovery.

SEEK TO GET BIG DUNKARD MEETING

Church of Brethren at Huntington Wants to Get Next Annual Conference.

Huntington, Ind., Aug. 1.—At the coming conference of the Church of the Brethren to be held at North Manchester on the second Thursday in October, the Huntington congregation will present its offer to the middle district of the state church organization to meet here in its next annual conference. That the invitation will be accepted is now practically assured, it having been stated previously that Huntington would secure the event in case ample accommodations were guaranteed.

The plan of the congregation of this city was to secure the co-operation of the seven other Dunkard churches of the county in the movement. The favorable report of the Andrews church practically completes the preparations and all is now in readiness to present the invitation. The conference will bring several hundred people to Huntington.

RETIRES FROM COURIER.

Auburn Manager Takes Position With Auto Company.

Auburn, Ind., Aug. 1.—John C. Lochner, who for the last ten months has been the manager of the Auburn Daily and Weekly Courier, has resigned and taken a position as advertising manager for the W. H. McIntyre company, which is the largest automobile factory in this city. The president of the company is the proprietor of the Courier.

The position made vacant will be filled by R. Earl Peters, for some time past the city editor of the paper, who will combine with his present duties those of the business management of the paper. Mr. Peters is a well equipped newspaper man and is a good news gatherer and during his connection with the Courier has kept up its reputation as a live chronicler of the local events of DeKalb county.

SEEN AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Dr. Fowler and Mrs. Kiger Who Disappeared from Bluffton.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 1.—The sensational coincidence of the departure of Dr. W. N. Fowler and Mrs. Alice Kiger from this city last week gained renewed circulation with the making public of information that they were seen together this week on the streets of Indianapolis. The word to that effect was contained in a letter received from a member of the family of Maurice Lapinsky, who formerly resided in this city, stating that one of the sons of the family saw the doctor and Mrs. Kiger entering a cafe together. It is thought probable that Mrs. Kiger is remaining at Indianapolis until a settlement of her property interests here can be accomplished. It is inferred that she is at the home of a former Bluffton woman, while Dr. Fowler is stopping elsewhere.

OLD SETTLER DEAD.

Isaac Caldwell Resided in Kosciusko County 73 Years.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 1.—Isaac Caldwell, the oldest resident of Clay township, Kosciusko county, passed away at his home just northwest of Claypool Saturday, aged 84 years, death being due to dropsical trouble. Mr. Caldwell had been in failing health for some years and for weeks his condition had been critical.

Isaac Caldwell came to Clay township in February, 1837, when there were less than a half dozen houses in the township, and has been the oldest resident of the county for several years. He settled on a farm near Claypool, was successful and invested his surplus in real estate to a great extent, owning over 400 acres of good land at the time of his death.

NEW HUNTINGTON PASTOR.

German Lutheran Church Secures an Ohio Divine.

Huntington, Ind., Aug. 1.—Word has been received by the members of the German Lutheran church that Rev. Hussman, of near Cleveland, Ohio, has accepted the call as pastor to the church in this city and that he will begin preparations immediately to move to Huntington. The local congregation expects him to arrive here in about two weeks to become the successor of Rev. W. F. Brandes, who has gone to Cleveland to accept another pastorate.

DIED AT COLUMBIA CITY.

Columbia City, Ind., Aug. 1.—Mrs. Rachel R. Wagner, died Saturday noon at the home of her son, Heber B. Wagner, in her seventy-sixth year, after a three-months' illness of a complication of diseases and age. She was a daughter of William and Hannah Beeson and was a native of Ohio, coming to Whitley county when but nine years of age and residing with her parents near Five Points, where they settled. A son, J. T. Wagner, and a step-daughter, Mrs. F. Stiner, reside in Fort Wayne.

RESIDENCE FOR TEACHER.

Decatur, Aug. 1.—Architect C. N. Christen has just completed plans for a residence which when completed will be occupied by a German teacher, such instructor to be employed by the Emanuel German Lutheran congregation in Union township. The house in question will be a modest little cottage, containing the conveniences of all country homes and will be built on the ground owned by the church and used for school purposes.

ACCEPTS PASTORATE.

Huntington, Ind., Aug. 1.—Accepting the call extended by the German Lutheran church, Rev. S. V. Hussman, of Berea, Ohio, will probably occupy the local pulpit in about a month. Notice of his acceptance of the call was sent to Professor John Renn, who is attending a church meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, and the latter sent word to members of the congregation.

A DETENTION HOSPITAL.

Marion, Ind., Aug. 1.—Marion is to have a new up-to-date detention hospital for the accommodation of indigent persons suffering from that disease and at the next meeting of the city council the matter of location for the new hospital will be discussed. The hospital will be constructed on the city's ground on East Third street, near the river bridge.

Are With the Team That Has the Best of the Argument and Don't Hesitate to Knock.

(By Chas. H. Spalding.)

Grand Rapids has passed through so many changes of ownership within the last six years that its patrons have fallen into the rather unusual habit of rooting for the winning team, no matter whether it is the visitors or the home aggregation and they do not hesitate to knock lustily when the Raiders fall.

In the games Saturday and Sunday Fort Wayne s...thered the Stags under such avalanches of singles, doubles, triples and home runs that the crowds thinned out before the games were finished and there was only one royal rooter who stuck by the home guard. He was a bleacher patron with a powerful voice who is with his own team first, last and all the time and who attends all the games.

Once in a great while a brilliant piece of fielding injected into the game by a home player got a rise out of the whole audience, but the hammers were going most of the time and even when there was a look-in for Grand Rapids that great anvil chorus was echoing through the stands. Few hope that the club will get out of the rut this season.

The story of the Sabbath clash is one round of vicious drives in which Charlie Alberts lost a home run for the simple reason that he omitted the formality of touching second base as he made the circuit. He was hammered up pretty hard and in the last half of the ninth Jimmy Burke had Corns warming up for the finish, although Fort Wayne had a big lead. That drive on which Alberts lost out went to left and rolled to the fence and he could have crawled in from third, but Raidy had the ball thrown to second and the runner was declared out.

Luck broke for Fort Wayne from the jump. Blount drove a ball at Joe Raidy that took a high bound and the Welshman took first. He moved up on Justice's sacrifice and Young hit another at Raidy that also went bad for the home pilot and Blount scored. Gainer hit to third and beat it out and then he and Young executed a double steal that netted another tally.

Kihm drew a pass in the second and was scored without a hit as Alberts filled the bags and then plinked Craven on the arm with a pitched ball. Young opened the fourth with a single and Larsen threw wild on Gainer's sacrifice. Manda sent both over with a triple and counted on the home run that Alberts lost for his failure to touch second.

Blount drove one to left for a home run to open the fifth and Justice was hit by a pitched ball. Reddin bunted and advanced the runner and Young hit for three bases. He scored when Gainer was retired at first. Queisser got two bases in the sixth on Kehoe's wild throw and scored on Blount's hit to left. Blount stole second and Justice sent him in.

Alberts opened with a triple in the ninth and Blount's sacrifice fly score counted him. Justice popped and Reddin hit. He scored on Young's triple and Young got through on Gainer's infield hit. A muff of Tieman's fly by Justice in the fifth with two hits scored a run for Grand Rapids, just after Raidy had hit for three bags and scored in the fifth on a sacrifice fly. Fox, Coffey and Kihm picked off singles in the ninth and Tieman walloped one for three bases, sending in two men, scoring later on an infield out.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

All sorts of things were resorted to to rest Alberts up after his run around the bases. Queisser pegged to middle field in his throw to second and Blount took a peg to Reddin and heaved the ball over the fence.

Blount made a star catch off Craven's bat in the fourth.

Burke and Queisser were the only two men who failed to register a hit.

Young got two triples and a pair of singles out of five times up. With one exception they were all clean drives.

Gainer is getting his speed back as he beat out two infield rollers during the game.

Manda's triple rolled down the right foul line to the fence before Craven finally captured it.

Reddin has been batting in fine form and hit better than four hundred in the three games at South Bend and two at Grand Rapids.

DIDN'T GET THE COIN.

(South Bend Tribune.)

Secretary Leo Wills, of the South Bend baseball team, made a bet with Owner Claude Varnell, of the Fort Wayne team, last night, that the Fort Wayne team received more money here than the South Bend team will get in Fort Wayne. Twenty-five dollars was wagered.

Two thousand one hundred people attended the games here and it will take more than that to make Pope lose his bet. Fort Wayne's share of the receipts here was $262.50. Had Varnell accepted the sporting editor's offer he would have been loser $82.50. Sorry he didn't accept. We'd like to build a philanthropic institution for senile sport writers.

It's not worth while to discuss this bet as it is just like taking candy from a child because it's a lead pipe cinch that Fort Wayne will draw more money in three days than South Bend. But that's not the idea.

If Leo Wills took in as many paid admissions as he says he did and got as much cash for Varnell as the story indicates, then he is shy. The first day the team played in South Bend Fort Wayne got $71.40, the second day $54.35 and the third day $57.50. Bert Dennis got a total of $183.25, as shown by reports signed by Wills and if the South Bend secretary is right in his figures there is still due the Fort Wayne club $80.25.

The Silent Procession---They Never Come Back

ROBBINS HOLDS THE BLADES TO ONE SINGLE.

Shamrocks Play Good Ball and Hang Up Another Victory.

Robbins pitched in rare form for the Shamrocks in the Sabbath victory over the Toledo Blades and with one hit registered against him, seven strike outs in his favor and only a couple of bases on balls he would have gotten through with a shut-out but for two errors that were bunched in the eighth and that netted a couple of runs.

Manager Cleary has apparently gotten together a club that can give the independent clubs in this vicinity good battles and, after a discouraging start, is winning right along from the clubs that are touted as the cream of the independent ranks.

Whistler, who worked because Cook was not in shape, was pummeled hard during the seven innings that he occupied the mound and when Cook finally went to the rescue a couple of infield hits and a pass to tab one score while he was on the mound. The score:

TIDBITS OF SPORTING NEWS

Elmer Moffitt has quit baseball for the season and is working on his father's farm near New Carlisle, Ind., in the hope of regaining his health.

Owner Robison refuses to enthuse over Hennis, of the Terre Haute team. He thinks he has landed a good young pitcher, but so many of them go wrong that he has learned to wait before giving an opinion.

A few victories at Wheeling has engendered the belief that the club has a chance to fin... in the first division. It looks stronger right now than at any time during the year.

The antiquated custom of picking an all-star team from the Central league is budding. Down at Evansville a writer selects one with Covington and Hennis as the pitchers, entirely overlooking Robertson, who is leading the league and who has demonstrated that he is the best on the circuit.

Bill Phillips has another big husky left handed pitcher he can secure at any time should the occasion demand it. Bill will probably sign the new flinger soon and hold him as it is understood the deal is to be made for another club.

Report has it that Harvey Pastorius has resigned again from the Central league staff. It is to be hoped that Dr. Carson will let him stay resigned this time and keep Guy Sample or somebody else who will preserve their self respect.

L. D. Smith is burning up the wires in the Central league trying to get ball players. He has asked every owner of the circuit, but the fact that he sold one of his best men and delivered him during the season does not, in the minds of the owners, entitle him to any sympathy and he is being turned down regularly.

Pat Wise, who used to pitch in the Central league, is playing in the outfield for a Dayton semi-pro club on Saturdays and Sundays.

Clyde Curtis of the Terre Haute team, earned $50 for himself by hitting the Bull Durham bull at Zanesville.

BENDERS MANAGE TO GET JUST WHAT IS NEEDED

Playing Good Ball and Luck is Breaking With the Club.

"That old team manages to get just what it needs. Saturday it needed a home run and somebody pickled one. While we were over there, if they needed a hit, they just got it when it was needed and that's all there is to it. Somebody will have to go some to stop that bunch."

Walter Miller made this speech at Grand Rapids and he is not far from right. It's not all luck. Eddie Wheeler has shown himself a capable manager and has developed a wonderful ability to get the very best results out of his men and he has behind him a hustling crew working with just one aim and that is to win. A home run was the one thing to beat Dayton Saturday, and it was delivered.

The ticker service went awry at Grand Rapids Saturday afternoon and a victory was posted for Dayton and until the Sunday morning papers arrived the Fort Wayne players believed they had made a gain on the leaders.

Yesterday the Bronchos chopped right in to Cy Clyde's repertoire and came away with a four-to-nothing victory with another shut out credited to the list of Ted Corbitt. He was hit nine times during the encounter, but grand support and good pitching in the pinches gave him a victory.

In the meantime Pitcher Jones was hurling some grand ball in the first number of the double bill at Zanesville, but the crippled Tots sent him to an overtime fray before he finally landed a victory. His pards bunched a small cluster of hits off Fred Alberts in the eleventh. Summers pitched gilt-edged ball against Kenworthy in the second half of the bill and the Tots won, although they got only three hits off Kenworthy. Summers had only one tabbed against him.

Wheeling battered Billy Cristall all up and made thirteen hits count for seven runs and beat Evansville.

GAINER BELIEVES IN HAIR PINS.

Every ball player on earth has a pet superstition and most of them have half a dozen or so and there are not a few with faith in hairpins, but Dal Gainer is the king hairpin hug of the Central league. A hairpin picked up on the street is considered by most ball players as a sure sign of a hit in the next game after it is discovered, but when it has delivered the bingle it is usually discarded.

Not so with Gainer. He keeps all he finds faithfully and if he preserves his average for the season he will have enough to start a store by the time the curtain is rung down on the schedule for the present year. He has a big bundle among his belongings and he treasures every one of them and is firm in the belief that his hitting has been very materially aided by the collection.

"You can laugh about it if you want to," he said at Grand Rapids Saturday night, as he picked up one in front of the Livingston hotel, "but the day before I got that long home run to center field at Fort Wayne I found the longest hairpin I ever picked up in my life. Now, that got that home run for me and I get a hit every time I find one. The one he found Saturday night got him a hit Sunday.

Just what promoted the lost hairpin as a hit producer is not known to any of the players versed in the lore of baseball's lucky things, but there are not many players who will pass one by on the street. If a player is not a believer himself he will generally point it out to a companion and if he is alone when he makes a find he invariably delivers it to some one firm in the faith, as faith is necessary to the effectiveness of woman's most useful ornament.

Most women can do most anything from catching bass to opening a can of sardines with a hairpin, but the ball player has but the one use for it and Gainer is the real blown-in-the-bottle convert as he says he has never lost out yet and does not believe that he ever will.

NOTES OF THE SATURDAY GAME.

Ed Pfeffer's home run was the first the big pitcher ever made in his life. It was a clean drive to left field and he had plenty of time to make the circuit before the ball was recovered. "Of course," he said after the game, "I had to make the thing on a lot where there is no bull and I didn't even get my smokings." Grand Rapids is the only town on the circuit where the Durham people have no sign.

With the bases full in the fifth Cy Bowen passed Gainer on purpose to get Burke. Gentle Jeems hit a ball right at Kehoe and it jumped over his head and two runs scored.

Eddie Justice had a field day with the bat. He hit three times out of four times up and twice he hit with men on. Once he hit, stole second and scored on Reddin's hit and Nick Kahl's wild heave.

Dal Gainer's home run was also a clean drive to the long left field. The left field at Grand Rapids is the longest in the league.

In the first it looked like Pfeffer's bad luck was right after him again. After he had passed Midge Craven, Fox hit the ball at Burke and it took a bad hop and scored a run. The team made more runs behind the big fellow than in any two games he has pitched this season. Fox's muff of two fly balls in succession seemed to capture the Stag's angora.

Cy Young has been hitting in good form on this trip and his two doubles were both clean drives down first base line.

Carl Manda did some good sprinting when he scored on Queisser's sacrifice fly.

Reddin hit the ball hard every time he was up, but got only one safe.

Justice made a grand play on George Tieman in the ninth when he knocked down a hard grounder with his glove, snatched the ball and had to turn completely around for the throw to first.

HOME SERIES OPENS HERE WITH A BARGAIN.

Grant and His Evas Will Start in a Three-Game Clash Tomorrow.

A bargain day matinee at which female fandom will enjoy a privilege that is not extended in any other park on the circuit is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at league park in which Angus A. Grant, with his band of fighting Evas will furnish the opposition and just at this stage of the proceedings the doughty little diamond warrior is dishing out a brand that is keeping the other teams on the jump. While he is not winning regularly he is giving all the clubs he meets some dandy good scraps to beat him.

Today the team had a good road record with an even break and if the game that closes the trip goes to Grand Rapids the showing will still be good, as the worst that can happen is seven losses out of thirteen and that's not a bit bad. Winning would, of course, be more satisfactory. At Grand Rapids in the opening games the locals worked out of their systems a lovely cluster of clouts that had been accumulating and when Delmer Dewaine Younk kicked in with a triple for good measure in the final inning of the last fray, Midge Craven and Eddie Coffey started after it. The Turk corralled it and the Midget started to climb over the right field fence to prepare for the next one.

Grant has a couple of new players who have not been in Fort Wayne. They are Lavelle, who is leading the batting order, and Hadley, who has been with the club all season, but who was injured in the opening series and did not make the first trip around the circuit. Carl Cantilvre, after, a time on the bench, is back in the game on account of his base running and the Fort Wayne lad is helping along wonderfully.

While Fort Wayne is playing Evansville, South Bend will be hooked up with Wheeling and Bill Phillips' rejuvenated crew may be able to do some business with the leaders, as the tail-enders are playing pretty good ball nowadays.

DEATH CALLS JOHN G. CARLISLE TO FINAL REST.

Had Been Speaker, Senator and Secretary of the Treasury.

New York, Aug. 1.—John G. Carlisle, former secretary of the treasury, who had been critically ill for two days, died at his apartments in New York at 10:50 o'clock last night, of heart failure, accompanied by oedema of the lungs.

John Griffin Carlisle was born in Campbell county, Ky., Sept. 5, 1835. In his early life he was compelled to work hard for a living and his education was mostly attained in the unpropitious atmosphere of a district country school, as opportunity afforded. He was a hard student, and before he had attained his majority he was earning his living by teaching school. He employed his leisure hours in reading law, and little by little qualified himself for the bar, to which he was admitted in 1858, when only 23 years of age, after a term in a dingy law office.

His Rise in Politics.

In 1859 he was elected a member of the Kentucky house of representatives. During the secession movement he inclined to the northern side and was a firm believer in the union. In 1864 he was nominated as a presidential elector on the democratic ticket, but he declined the honor. In 1866 he was elected to the senate of his native state, and again in 1869. He was present as delegate at large from Kentucky at the national democratic convention held in New York city in 1868.

His nomination for lieutenant governor of Kentucky in 1871 by the democratic convention caused him to resign his seat in the state senate, and, being elected, he served from 1871 to 1875 in that position. He was chosen a democratic elector at large for Kentucky in 1876. Chosen to represent the famous Covington district in congress, he proved a well informed and diligent member, a skilled debater, and an excellent orator. After an exciting canvass he was elected speaker of the Forty-eighth congress over Samuel J. Randall.

After the death of Senator Beck, Kentucky elected Carlisle as his successor in the federal senate. In 1893 he accepted the treasury portfolio offered by Mr. Cleveland.

Refuses to Try for Presidency.

Early in 1896 a movement was started to boom Carlisle for the democratic presidential nomination, but he declined to enter the race.

Mr. Carlisle took up the practice of law in New York. In 1902 he attacked fiercely the insular policy of the republican administration in a speech before the American Bar association.

Mr. Carlisle married Mary Jane Goodson, who predeceased him. They had two sons, L. Logan Carlisle and William Kinkaid Carlisle, both of whom are dead. Mr. Carlisle is survived by three grandchildren, John G. Carlisle, of this city, Jane Carlisle, now Mrs. Frederick L. Allen, of New York, and Laura Carlisle, now Mrs. Louis Sherman Fitkin, of New Haven.

Noted Statesman and Kentuckian Who Has Just Died.

NEW RECORD FOR SUNDAY TRAVEL

Over 3,000 Ft. Wayne People Went to the Lakes Yesterday.

CONDUCTOR PUT ON PENSION LIST.

Wm. Smith Retires After Working 46 Years for the Pennsy.

All previous records for Sunday travel to the lakes reached by the G. R. & I. and the Lake Shore roads were broken yesterday. The G. R. & I. sold a few over 1,300 tickets to Rome City and the Lake Shore sold between 1,500 and 1,600 tickets to lakes reached by that route. The latter company also sold upwards of 300 tickets to people going to the lakes on the train which left here at 11:30 this morning. The Wabash sold 163 tickets to Toledo and thirty-three to Detroit yesterday and brought in 255 Toledo and 87 Detroit people. The Nickel Plate also did a good business in the way of selling dollar rate tickets.

ACKERT TO SUCCEED RAWN.

Becomes President of Monon in September.

S. H. Ackert has been named for president of the Monon railroad, succeeding Ira G. Rawn, the same to become effective in September. Mr. Ackert is vice president of the Chicago and Alton road, with jurisdiction over the operating and maintenance of way departments. The election will be held in September and it is authoritatively reported that Mr. Ackerts will be elected.

HAS MADE LAST TRIP.

William Smith, Conductor, Is on Pension List.

Last Saturday terminated the service as a passenger conductor on the Pennsylvania of William Smith, who was 70 years old in July and had to retire in accordance with the rule bearing on that matter. Mr. Smith had a run on the Pennsylvania "Special" between Crestline and Pittsburg. He began service with the company in the capacity of a brakeman in 1864 and was promoted to a freight conductor and later to a passenger conductor over forty years ago. He was continuously in the service forty-six years, running in and out of Crestline all that time, and no conductor on the road is held in higher esteem by his fellow trainmen than William Smith. A son is also a passenger conductor on the Eastern division of the Pennsylvania, running in and out of Crestline.

CHANGES AT THE SHOPS.

A number of changes took place at the Pennsylvania shops this morning, among them being the following: W. F. Mandara, to special piece work inspector; G. C. Roepke appointed foreman of the lathe department; F. H. Schaffer foreman of the wheel department of the machine shop; M. H. Hobrock appointed piece work card clerk in the erecting shop; E. W. Zimmerman gang foreman in the erecting shop; Charles Waldman night boiler foreman at the round house, a newly created position; J. Herrick, of Huntington, boiler inspector at round house; A. J. Morell, transferred from the wheel department of the machine shop to the annex of the machine shop, and L. E. Steele transferred from the machine shop to the store room. Charles H. Knothe, who had been doing special work, was returned to the machine shop.

EXCAVATING FOR ABUTMENTS.

The Herman Tapp Construction company put a gang of men and teams at work this morning excavating for the foundations for the bridge which will carry the company's tracks over Calhoun street. Trippeer & Son, who have the contracts for the city's and the traction company's part of the work of separating the grades there, also have the contract of excavating for and building the abutments for the Wabash bridge and will do it in connection with the other work. Trippeer & Son have a big gang of workmen engaged in excavating under the tracks and the approaches and will endeavor to have a street car line in operation by next Sunday.

S. W. WHITE ON PENSION LIST.

Stephen W. White, who commenced his term of service with the Pennsylvania January 1, 1875, and was soon afterwards promoted to the position of secretary of the Northern Central Railway company and various other subsidiary companies of the great system, retired from active service today in accordance with the company's pension rules. He was born July 16, 1840, and after completing his education in the schools of Philadelphia, became private secretary to Jay Cooke, the banker, a position he filled until 1875, when he went to the Pennsylvania as assistant to the secretary of the Northern Central and two years later was elected to the office which he has just relinquished.

FIRST WAGON UNDER TRACKS.

Francis J. Ryan, who is employed by the Excelsior Fruit and Oyster company, was the first to drive a horse attached to a wagon under the elevated Pennsylvania and Wabash tracks at Calhoun street. Mr. Ryan was coming down town at 5 o'clock Friday morning and forgetting about the elevation work, was at the crossing before he realized the situation. He was in a hurry, however, so he drove down under the tracks, making the passage without difficulty and acquiring the distinction of being the first to accomplish that feat.

CHANGED DATE OF EXCURSION.

The employes of the Western Gas Construction company who had arranged to hold their annual picnic at Rome City Saturday, August 27, have found it advisable to change the date and hold the affair on Saturday, August 20. On that date the employes will have a special train to the resort and will go there 400 or 500 strong. Committees have been appointed to get an amusement program which will consist of all kinds of field and water sports.

RELIEF FUND DISBURSEMENTS.

During the month of June the relief department of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg paid $20,940 to the families of deceased members and $29,365.10 to members who were incapacitated by injury or sickness, making the total disbursement on the lines for the month of June $50,305.10. Since the organization of the department $7,769,083.05 have been disbursed to members or to their families in case of death.

NO NEWS STAND FOR WABASH.

The Union News company has abandoned the proposition to establish a news stand in the Wabash depot at Broadway. When track elevation is completed and the Wabash has resumed business in its old passenger station on Calhoun street, the Union News company will establish a stand there.

REPAIRING BOILER PLANT.

The Bass company is repairing the power plant of the National Steel Casting company, of Montpelier, Ind. Two of the boilers were brought here Saturday and taken into the shops for heavy repairs.

COL. THOMPSON HERE.

Col. and Mrs. R. G. Thompson, of Indianapolis, are stopping at the Anthony. Their visit is in connection with a change affecting Colonel Thompson, which takes place September 1 and necessitates a removal from Indianapolis.

HAD FINGER CUT ON PLANER.

The G. R. & I. will run a special train from the north and will put extra equipment on the trains from the south and possibly run one of them in two sections to handle the crowd. Last year the G. R. & I. handled over 900 people on a similar occasion.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 1.—With the harvesting making rapid progress in the northwest, and with returns as a rule exceeding expectations, wheat today showed a downward tendency. Foreign dispatches, however, did not indicate a bullish situation and there was soon evident in the market a rallying power that had to be reckoned with. Cash demand was slow, but mills were said to be ready to take hold more freely. On the other hand receipts were heavier than had been estimated. The opening was ¼c lower to ⅜@½c higher. September started at $1.03¾ to $1.03⅝, unchanged to ¼c up. A decline followed to $1.03¼ and made an advance to $1.03⅝@1.03¾.

Local receivers were sellers. The effect was bearish in connection with the large arrivals throughout the west over Sunday. World's shipments were very heavy, especially from Russia. The close was easy, with September at $1.02½@1.02⅝ to $1.02⅝, a net decline of ⅝c to ¾@⅞c.

Cooler weather and a bearish crop report from Oklahoma weakened corn, but on the ensuing dip in quotations good buying set in and recoveries took place in consequence. The market opened ⅛c to 1c down, with September at 63¾c to 63⅞c, a loss of ⅛c to ¾c. Rapid fluctuations were witnessed between 63¾c and 64½c.

Steadiness later at about Saturday's final figures was attributed to crop damage reports. The close was unchanged 63⅞c for September, a net loss of ⅛@¼c.

Oats were dull and the range narrow. September started a shade to ⅛@¼c higher at 37⅜c to 37½c, touched 37¼c and rose to 37⅝c.

General liquidation by commission houses lowered provisions. First sales were at 5c to 10c decline and there was a continuation of the recession. The opening for the September option was $21.50 for pork, $11.47½ for lard, and $11.25 to $11.27½ for ribs.

BETTER THAN INDIANA.

T. B. Wright Home From Southern California, "Golden" State.

"I like it much better than Indiana," said T. B. Wright today. He was speaking of southern California, from which district he returned last Saturday night after taking his family there several weeks ago. Mr. Wright is very enthusiastic over the California country and is anxious to return there. "These stories about the balminess of that state are not stretched a bit," he says.

Mr. Wright says that W. D. Page, who went to California several years ago, is very busy with his tile works and also in aiding in the Spalding campaign for senator. Mr. Spalding is making a hot race for the senatorial place and has an excellent opportunity of landing the plum. Mr. Wright placed his family on a ranch a half mile from the shore on the other side of the bay from San Diego and Mr. Page is now erecting a residence there also.

What We Do In AUGUST

We do not ask, "Is it hot enough," nor do we give advice on how to keep cool. We just go on providing for the wants of the people who are at home and those that are going away.

We are just as alive to your needs now as at any time during the year, and our stocks will be found generously full and satisfying of things needed to contribute to your comfort.

DURING AUGUST

There will be many offerings of summer goods at reduced prices. Many goods will be sold so far below their value that you can effect liberal savings on needed merchandise. We do not want to hold anything over from one season to another, except your confidence.

IN AUGUST

You will begin to show an interest in what to wear during the autumn season, and you will find during the month the first fruits of the season upon our counters; not complete stocks, of course, but enough to show the style tendency; and every day will increase the store's attractiveness. Be a frequent visitor during the month—no matter how hot it may be, our store is cool and comfortable.

Feet So Sore Couldn't Walk Down Stairs--

TIZ Cured Her Quick

If you have sore feet, tired feet, sweaty feet, lame feet, tender feet, smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions, read what happened to Mrs. Crockett, of Jeffersonville. TIZ DID IT. Mr. Crockett says: "After the second treatment she walked downstairs one foot at a time. She has not been able to walk downstairs before in past five years, except by stepping down on each step with one foot at a time. This is remarkable. Send five more boxes."

No matter what ails your feet or what under heaven you have used without getting relief, just use TIZ. It's different. It acts right off. It cures sore feet to stay cured. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. You will feel better the first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25c per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

M. V. B. Spencer is editorial writer on the Journal, so it is said.

Forty-two men will be dismissed from the Pittsburg shops here tomorrow.

Wm. Kyle now plays the cornet in the Second Presbyterian Sunday school.

The street car horses have moist sponges tied over their heads. This gives relief from the heat.

The Haydn quartet gave such good satisfaction at Rome City that they have been requested to sing next year.

The waterworks receives no water at all from the St. Joe river. The supply comes from the wells and Spy Run creek.

Jesse Lehr was bitten by a vicious dog yesterday. Mayor Muhler has issued an order to shoot unmuzzled dogs.

Gust Rabus measured five gentlemen from out of town yesterday for stylish suits of clothes. Mr. Rabus' reputation is not entirely local.

Dr. Ferguson has been elected superintendent of the Second Presbyterian Sunday school. No better choice could have been made.

Eight hundred persons comprised the policemen's excursion to Rome City this morning. At 7:30 o'clock Keintz's City band marched from Main street to the south depot, headed by Capt. Hugh M. Diehl and his lieutenant, Frank Wilkinson.

Postmaster Kaough is ready to take charge of his office. This afternoon Mr. Kaough appointed August M. Schmidt his first deputy. Mr. Schmidt was long connected with the Wabash road, is a good democrat and a bright fellow. Mr. D. A. Woodworth is showing him the business of the office this afternoon.

M. V. Walsh, the courteous day clerk at the Aveline house, returned last night from a three weeks' sojourn at Mt. Clemens and St. Clair flats. Mike looks the picture of health and while away added to his other accomplishments roller skating. He exhibits a prize or two won on the floor and proudly displays them beneath the spark on his shirt front.

When the digestion is all right, the action of the bowels regular, there is a natural craving and relish for food. When this is lacking you may know that you need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They strengthen the digestive organs, improve the appetite and regulate the bowels.
